"HELLO DAD" INFANT COMMUNICATION FOR FATHERS

Good Beginnings Australia and The New South Wales Institute of Psychiatry present "Hello Dad" Infant Communication for Fathers.

Sometimes, despite the amazing emotions of fatherhood, men can feel little more than bystanders. However babies know their fathers too and from the moment of birth, they are eager to interact with them.

Dads, as well as Mums, are crucial in helping their baby build relationships. Science tells us these relationships are crucial for the healthy development of babies' brains.
